Dear Colleague:

Your donation to the National Academy of Engineering (NAE) acknowledges the importance of an influential, informed voice that provides engineering leadership – a voice that addresses critical societal and global issues, promotes a vibrant engineering profession, increases public understanding and appreciation of engineering, and nurtures tomorrow's engineering leaders. Our reputation for technical and professional excellence and integrity, convening power, and leadership in engineering policy would not be where it is today without your partnership.

You enable our work to continue when and where it is needed most. Together, we are making a difference by addressing core issues around the COVID-19 pandemic, climate change, and the nation's infrastructure; increasing engineering talent through a commitment to equity and inclusion; instilling a culture of ethical and environmental responsibility in engineering; and improving capabilities and competencies for complex systems engineering. The past year's events have only accelerated the need for the engineering community to address these and other significant issues. Your support is critical to enhancing public awareness of engineering's vital role and contributions to society. Join me in making a gift today.

As part of our 2021-2026 Strategic Plan, we are launching a new programs portfolio that targets interlinked objectives across the guiding themes of people, systems, and culture. This new portfolio will enable the NAE to promote the value of an engineering mindset for business, higher education, government, and daily life in support of its core mission: advising the nation. See the accompanying insert for more examples of your impact at the NAE.

I am so grateful for the time and resources that you and other NAE members and friends contribute. Whether you provide unrestricted support to the Independent Fund, program-specific funding to EngineerGirl or Frontiers of Engineering, or contribute to our endowment funds to ensure long-term financial health, you are a partner in our work. Please donate to the NAE to demonstrate your commitment to this partnership and the engineering profession. Together, we are making a difference through the promotion of evidence-based advice. Together, we are building a more resilient future for the U.S. and the world. Together, we are focusing on the people, systems, and culture of engineering. Thank you for your partnership.

Sincerely,

John L. Anderson
